Athens Airways flying to Thessaloniki

Athens Airways is about to begin its flights to "Makedonia" airport. First flight is scheduled for Thursday, 12th of March. There will be three flights daily to and from Thessaloniki.

"For Athens Airways the beginning of our flights to Thessaloniki is of significance, since "Makedonia" airport will be our company's second node. Furthermore, through its network's fast development Athens Airways proves it intends to become autonomous in Greek air transport sector and indications until now show that the specific target has been achieved", states Sakis Andrianopoulos, CEO of Athens Airways.

Although first flight took place on 31st of January, the new airline managed to expand rapidly its presence in Greece. First station was Alexandroupoli, then Kavala, followed by Mytilene a few days ago, and Thessaloniki, which is about to begin. According to Athens Airways' plans destinations will increase, as important urban and tourist centers, such as Rhodes, Mykonos, Santorini, Chania, Herakleion, Zakynthos and Kefalonia, are about to add. Within the summer the above destinations as well as the daily frequency of flights will increase, in order to respond to the increased demands of the season. At the same time company's plans include the expansion to neighboring countries.
